Art Unit: 2878

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The present specification fails to provide an adequate teaching/discussion of how and in what manner shear force or flow rate is measured. It is unclear how and in what manner the "fiber optic sensors" sense the relative motion between the reference surface and the floating head. What exactly are the "fiber optic sensors" and what exactly is the element/component and/or device of the sensor(s) that performs the claimed sensing function. The exact functional relationship between the claimed elements/citations in the claims has not been clearly defined and/or discussed in the present specification. The exact operation and/or performance(s) of the claimed invention has not been clearly discussed/disclosed. How and in what manner is the intended scope of the claimed invention achieved?

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, it is understood that the intended scope of the claimed invention is for "measuring shear force or flow rate" as stated in the preamble of the claim, however, the body (citations) of the claim fails to provide or claim essential or critical element(s)/device(s) and its manner to perform and/or achieve the intended scope of the claimed invention. Note that the citation regarding the "integral fiber optic sensor(s)" (arranged to sense relative motion between the reference surface and the floating head) comprising: a tube, a fiber optic element, and a reflective surface but fail to at least claim the exact element/component of the sensor(s) with its function to achieve the intended scope of the claim.

Similar citation in claim 15 is similarly unclear. In addition, the exact functional relationship between the "signal processing means", on lines 20-21 of the claim, and other claimed elements/components of the claimed system is not clear.

No art is applied against the claimed invention, claims 1-15 due to the unclear status of the claims as discussed above.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
